

Each banking institution has its own interface but you will want to find a function called something similar to “Transfer Money”.

The sequence may be different but the essential components to the process are to create a recipient profile such as VRPA. Enter the VRPA’s email address of vicrpb@gmail.com. In addition, you will create a security question and answer. Choose something that would be obvious for the VRPA to answer. Use one, lowercase word and don’t send it in the message.

You will be asked to designate the account from which to transfer the funds and none of that information will be revealed to the recipient.

Choose email as the method of sending the transfer. All the VRPA gets is an email that says we have received an INTERAC e-transfer from you (your name is displayed). We open the email and deposit the funds in our bank.
